

Conference Program

Bending the Rules: Social Radicalism, Wanderlust, and Utopianism in Children's and YA Literature

Day 1

Date: 9 June 2026

Location: Vijećnica, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, University of Zagreb

17:00 – 18:30 Book Talk about A Walk Through the Future, the first SF socialist utopia in the South Slavic literatures:
“The unpredictable past of the future: The political potential of utopia”

(Ivana Momčilović and Jelena Lalatović)

Day 2

Date: 10 June 2026

Location: Vijećnica, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, University of Zagreb

09:30 - 10:00 Opening speech

Biljana Andonovska (Institute for Literature and Art, Belgrade), the researcher who rediscovered A Walk Through the Future

10:00 - 10:45 Keynote: "In Dreams Begin Possibilities: Can Children's Literature Change the World?" by Julia Mickenberg (University of Texas at Austin) and Philip Nel (Kansas State University)

10:45 - 11:00 Coffee Break

11:00 - 12:30 Round Table: "Subversive Ideas and Revolutionary Practices in Children's Literature" Chair: Jelena Lalatović (Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, University of Zagreb)

•
Dubravka Zima (Faculty of Croatian Studies, University of Zagreb), "Anarchy in Children's Literature: Mutual Aid and Radicalism of Unity in Croatian Children's Novels in the 1930s"

•
Stanislava Barać (Institute for Literature and Art, Belgrade), "A Radical Price of Radical Literature: Mila Dimić's Anti-Capitalist Short Stories for Children and Their Parents"

•
Katja Kobolt (Institute of Culture and Memory Studies, Ljubljana), "Social Reproduction and Children's Literature: Politicizing Socialist Motherhood"

•
Sanja Petrović Todosijević (Institute for Recent History of Serbia, Belgrade), "Children's Self-Organization and State Educational Policy in Yugoslavia (1918-1991)"

•
Ivana Momčilović (Laboratory of Radical Peace / El-Migrative Art, Belgium), "(Self) Education of Peace and Unlearning of War - An Example from Children's Science Fiction Literature: A Walk Through the Future, by Little Zora, Belgrade (1924/25)"

Day 2

Date: 10 June 2026

Location: Vijećnica, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, University of Zagreb

12:30 – 13:30 Lunch Break

13:30 – 15:00 Panel: “Children’s Literature Between Political Agendas and Semiotic Reframing” Chair: Milica Sekulović (Institute for Philosophy and Social Theory, University of Belgrade)

•
Lilijana Burcar (Faculty of Arts, University of Ljubljana), “Saving Socialist (Non)Utopia from Revisionism in Children’s Literature: The Other Side of Political and Social Inculturation of Child Readers”

•
Janneke van de Stadt (Williams College, Williamstown), “Subversion as Fantasy: Disability in Hadi Mohammadi’s and Nooshin Safakhoo’s In the Meadow of Fantasies”

•
Luca Padalino (University of Perugia), “Utopia as Explosion: A Lotmanian Reframing of Radicalism in Children’s and Young Adult Literature”

•
Gabriella Daroczi (Eötvös Loránd University, Budapest), “A Labyrinth Book — Suzy Lee: Mirror”

•
15:00 – 15:15 Coffee Break

15:15–16:30 Panel: “Communities of Transgression” Chair: Ivana Momčilović

•
Milica Marković (Faculty of Philosophy, University of Belgrade), “The Open-Air School Movement in the Late 19th and Early 20th Century: An Attempt at a School of the Future?”

•
Milan Mašát (Faculty of Education, Palacký University Olomouc), “Wanderlust and Micro-Utopias: Boundary-Pushing Communities in Czech Children’s and YA Literature”

•
Davor Ereš and Milica Sekulović (Institute for Philosophy and Social Theory, University of Belgrade), “Wanderlust and the Temporality of the Future in Yugoslavia: Transformative Visual Pedagogy and the Case of the Novel KETS Star (Belyaev).”

Closing

